A motion was made that the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee take up bonds to the extent of the money now on hand.

Mayor Lee in a short speech said that every Councilman should get together and work in harmony to see that all expenses were curtailed and that everyone should put his shoulder to the wheel, forgetting all petty differences, and help to make up the deficit caused by the loss of the $17,500 annual saloon license. In conclusion he said that Maysville was the best town of its size on the Ohio River between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh and that it was up to everyone to work for the common good of the city.

The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the Chairman of the License Committee, the Chairman of the Proposition and Grievance Committee, the Chairman of the Laws and Ordinance Committee and City Attorney were appointed to look into the matter of reducing any unnecessary expenses of the city, the matter to be left in the hands of the City Council at the next regular meeting.

On motion Council adjourned.

TALCUM FOR POLISHING RICE.

Louisiana State Rice Milling Co., New Orleans.—An article which we find difficult to procure in this country is a very high-grade talcum, used for the polishing of rice. We have, up to the time of the European war, purchased our entire requirements from Austria. They were able to supply a very high-grade of Austrian Stearin talc.

There is quite a variety of domestic talc, but so far we have not found anything equal to either the Austrian or Italian article. We should be very glad to have you put us in touch with a house in this country, in a position to furnish something equal to these goods.

(Note.—Other replies will be printed in The American Economist in succeeding issues.—Ed.)

THE FREE-TRADE RESULT.

The American farmer pays for the privilege of selling his products in an American market—the privilege is paid for in the way of taxes; but the Argentine farmer, the Canadian farmer, the Australian farmer and every other farmer in the world has been given the privilege of selling in the American market without its costing him one red cent. Is it fair to thus discriminate against our fellow countrymen.—Brookfield (Mo.) Gazette.

The constitutionality of the surtax imposed by the new Federal law on incomes over $20,000 was raised in a case docketed July 30 in the Supreme Court by John F. Dodge and Horace E. Dodge, Detroit automobile manufacturers. Two cases already before the court complain of the invalidity of other features of the law.

Whatever the result of the European war may be, Great Britain will take the first opportunity to revise its tariff. There will be need of greatly increased government revenues and there will be an irresistible demand in the land of Cobden for duties high enough to shut out everything "made in Germany."

The men in Congress seem to take malicious pleasure in devising new schemes to hamper business.

For example, Mr. Evans, of Montana, has introduced a bill in the House making it unlawful for carrier in interstate commerce, inclusive of ship lines, to transport strike-breakers.

The home trade of the United States for the last year is estimated by the Federal government about $40,000,000,000. The entire foreign trade (imports and exports) for the same period amounted to only $4,258,504,805.

The falling off in immigration at New York for the first week in August was 30,000 as compared with the number for the same week last year.

That when Tariffs are made low

THE WAR AND THE TARIFF.

The financial editor of the Boston Post analyzes the effect of the war upon our industries in a way that must seem heretical to the editorial department of this typical Democratic paper.

Here is what the Post's financial editor says:

"When the first big shock caused by the outbreak of the great European war is over and the money situation can be brought back to anything like a normal basis, it is believed that certain industries which were in a way to suffer more or less from revised tariff schedules will—so far as the tariff is concerned—be restored to the same condition as prevailed prior to the revision. In word, the outbreak of the war has practically nullified the revised tariff schedule entirely, and left the home market without competition from abroad. In the steel and iron and the textile industries, especially, it is believed that many concerns which were struggling to readjust their operations to the new tariff will be able to go ahead on their old methods. Of course a good deal will depend upon how domestic business works out with the big war going on, but, the general impression is that in a short time the European nations with practically their entire productive forces under arms will have to depend on the United States for almost everything they wear and eat."

"It is true that our manufacturers are being handicapped by the fact that they are unable to secure certain products which enter into the process of manufacture, such as dyes in the textile field, hides in the shoe industry and ferro-magnesite in the steel trade; but it is expected that this will be overcome in some cases by substitutions and by imports from neutral countries in others. The main problem is to get ships to carry on foreign trade and to clear the ocean so that such trade is safe and economical."

RETributive JUSTICE.

The tax of 20 cents a gallon on domestic wines, one of California's principal products, makes it appear that retributive justice is right on the heels of a commonwealth which cast less than 4,000 votes two years ago in favor of the party that was under fire because of the enactment of a Tariff law which fostered California industries and gave the State such prosperity as it never before had experienced.—Indiana State Journal.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years from awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and suffered lots of it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16."

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it is my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

BLOWING THE CIRCULATING MEDIUM.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

Into the environs of the slow, old-fashioned Southern city made famous by the misadventures of a character no less renowned than "Old Reliable," two members of an all but obsolete profession presented themselves one October day. They were chimney sweeps. Having performed their work, they awaited the generous recompense that followed the perilous passage of wide chimneys, such as are no longer built. "You make good wages, my men," said the bookstore proprietor in a patronizing tone, "and, may I ask, what do you do with your money?" The chief blackmouther turned to his friend with an air of intimate understanding, then answered the inquirer in deprecatory fashion: "Well, sir, to tell you the truth, we circulate it!"

DUMDUM BULLETS

Expanding Kind First Made In Town of Same Name.

(New York Mail)

The French accuse the Germans of using dumdum bullets in Alsace. They have made a collection of these missiles, and promise to enter formal complaint about them before The Hague tribunal, or before, the representatives of the Powers of all the world.

Dumdum bullets have their name from a little town in India, near Calcutta, where the ammunition factory for the British Government in India is situated. For the benefit of Afghans, possible Indian mutineers, negroes and other barbarians, the British had a bullet manufactured here which is half covered with steel, but with a soft leaden nose; when discharged from a modern rifle of high power, this soft nose expands, or "mush-rooms," turning the bullet in the air into a horrible bulging object which tears through the flesh of a man, surely bleeding him to death.

The purpose of this bullet is to kill the man every time. The purpose of the ordinary humane bullet of modern warfare, which is wholly incased in steel or nickel, is merely to put the man out of the fight. It makes a small, clean wound. If it does not strike a vital part the bullet may go entirely through the man without wounding him seriously. But it shuts him out of the fight for the time being.

WHAT TOMMY ATKINS EATS

Publication of British Soldiers' Menu
Follows General French's Praise of the Commissary.

When General French's report of the first week's fighting of the British army in France was received it was noted that in mentioning the various branches of the service which had contributed to the success of the movement, he laid particular stress upon the wonderful work the commissary department had done. The early movements of the army were in the form of alternate stands and retreats, a fight all day and a retreat at night. Yet the commissary was able to keep up with and serve Tommy Atkins and keep his stomach full. And Tommy fought like a lion although he did not relish the continuous retrograde. Thus Lord Kitchener's promise at the beginning of hostilities has been carried out.

"Every man on the battle line will fight on a full stomach," he said and the publication of Tommy's menu shows plainly that England's war minister has made good his word. Every soldier is allowed a pound and a half of bacon and beef per day; a pound and a half of bread with cheese or jam and two ounces of tobacco.

FIFTY YEARS AGO IN CINCINNATI.

(Commercial Tribune)

OCTOBER 3, 1864.

On Sunday last a lady and gentleman belonging to Sanford's Minstrel Troupe were married, but the match evidently proved not a happy one since the bride of two days elapsed with another gentle man yesterday.

There were eight packet arrivals yesterday and nine departures. Business was good on the landing and all boat men report a heavy traffic in all directions.

The weather was cool and cloudy with rain during the afternoon and evening. The thermometer ranged from 49 to 60 deg. during the day.

Captain Thompson, local recruiting officer, established a new record during the past ten days of September when he enlisted 700 men, practically all of whom have gone to the front. One hundred and seventy-five men were drafted in the Seventh Ward yesterday, thus completing the quota to be furnished by that ward under the last call.

The union ladies of Newport will hold a festival at Odd Fellows' Hall tomorrow night, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of a flag for the Loyalty League.

Gold continues to decline, being quoted in New York yesterday at 189, with evidences that it will go lower today. Wheat was quoted on the Chicago market yesterday at $1.13, corn $1.24 and oats $1.60 and the entire list was very weak.

Grant's campaign war maps are now offered for sale by booksellers and are warranted "to give the observer a perfectly clear view of the war situation."

THE COCKTAIL.

(Philadelphia Evening Ledger.)

Who invented the cocktail? Some bartender! A bon vivant? Or was it discovered the result of a drunken frolic?

The cocktail was invented by Mrs. Elizabeth Flanagan, widow of an Irish soldier who fell in the service of the American army during the Revolution. After her husband's death, Mrs. Flanagan became an army sutler, following a troupe of Virginia horse under Col. John Burr. In the winter of 1776 she took up quarters with the troupe in a place called Four Corners, on the road between Tarrytown and White Plains, N. Y.,—near the residence of John D. Rockefeller. There Mrs. Flanagan set up a hotel which soon became the rendezvous of the "swells" of that day. One day the hostess surprised her guests by announcing a new drink—the cocktail—supposed to have been named after the blending of colors in the tail of a game cock.

REGULAR REGISTRATION.

On Tuesday, October 6th, the regular registration will be held at the voting place in every precinct in town. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m., and everyone who wants to vote in the November election must register, regardless of whether or not he has registered since last year.

The officers appointed to serve in the November election will serve for this registration.

THE CUB'S FAUX PAS.

(Philadelphia Evening Ledger.)

This may be a base libel on an honored profession, but it is told by the man who perpetrated the faux pas. He was a reporter for a Baltimore paper—or had been one for about an hour this being his first experience in newspaper work—when the city editor sent him out to see Cardinal Gibbons. The "cub" rushed down to the modest white house where the venerable prelate lives and rang the bell. A man servant opened the door.

"Is the Cardinal at home?" asked the reporter.

"No sir."

"Oh, Mrs. Gibbons will do," ejaculated the "cub."

AN OLD CESTNUT.

Claude—Am I the first man you ever loved?

Maudie—Why, certainly. How strange men are! They all ask me that question.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a reason."

Look in packages for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A FISCAL COURT'S MISTAKE.

As a rule the Fiscal Courts in Kentucky have not been backward about voting funds for the employment of farm demonstration agents. An exception is noted in Hopkins county, where the Fiscal Court has refused to appropriate any amount whatever.

The Federal Government expends a large amount of money every year in paying the salaries of the farm agents, but it expects the counties to meet it half way in the matter of expense. In other words it will pay half the agent's salary provided the court will pay the other half. This is a reasonable proposition and one that has been accepted readily by a score or more counties in Kentucky.

Hopkins county employed a farm demonstrator a year ago. The Fiscal Court, then as now, refused to give any assistance and the money was raised by private subscription, the Hopkins County Commercial Club leading in the campaign for funds. The Commercial Club and the farmers of the county will raise three months with heart trouble, is now near death.

Chas. H. Compton of this place, was appointed and qualified last Monday as Coroner of this county in place of Mr. Ratlin who resigned.

The lumber mill of J. C. Wilson of near here caught fire one night this week and over $100 damage was done before the fire was discovered and put out. It was caused by a spark blowing in a lot of shavings under the mill shed.

SOME FRATERNAL FIGURES.

(From The Boston Herald.)

It is interesting to recall what the distinguished military strategist General Nogi said at the time of the siege of Port Arthur, and note how accurately he located the field on which the future of Europe would be fought out and determined. His words were:

"I believe that the world will witness a great war, which will have all Europe for its battle ground, and will settle the Franco-German question and the Anglo-German rivalry. France and Germany will meet in this last decisive conflict on the Belgian plains, probably near Waterloo, the only spot which will permit of the evolution of the immense armies which will face each other. At the present time the French and German frontiers are too strongly fortified for either people to force its way through. I have little doubt as to the result of this war. France will beat Germany on land, and England will crush Germany at sea."

"This war will be the last in Europe for many a day, perhaps forever; the German states will emerge from this war so exhausted and so terrified that they will have no other object than to form some sort of condition that may in the future obviate the recurrence of any such catastrophe."

Thus does mankind broaden its food supply. A generation ago tomatoes were called "love apples," and though used in some quarters, were generally held poisonous. Considerably farther back, tomatoes were assumed superior to potatoes as a food root crop. Samuel Johnson's slur at oats is a grain fed to horses in England, but to people in Scotland is familiar to all—and the use of oatmeal, in England is elsewhere, is on the increase. It is quite in order that cotton-seed meal should come next.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE.

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present! Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

NOT DRUGS.

Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

A dime for charity at home is more surely productive of good than a dollar for the hearth.

YELLOWSTONE'S "FISHPOD."

"In September last," says a writer in the September Wide World Magazine.

"I made a trip through the Yellowstone National Park, a veritable wonderland. One of the more striking features is a freak of Nature called the 'Fishpot.' This 'Fishpot' is a rock formation—probably of volcanic origin—shaped like an inverted cone, and several yards in circumference. In the heart of the cone is a pool of boiling water, and as the 'Fishpot' is just at the edge of the Yellowstone Lake, with the waters of the lake partly surrounding it, those who are lucky with the rod may stand on the outer or rocky part of the lake, catch a fish in the cool waters of the lake, and, without removing it from the hook, drop it into the 'Fishpot' and boil it."

Judging by the fashions, there must be an unparalleled demand for sunburn remedies this summer.

A Baltimore man laughed so hard he burst an artery, which is better than letting them harden.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE.

The Following Statement Should Form

Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every

Maysville Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorsers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice-fold and confirmed with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? It's from a Maysville resident:

Mrs. John Wallingford, 108 Commerce St., Maysville, Ky., says: "Several of my neighbors have been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills, and one of my family was also cured of a serious case of kidney complaint after other medicines had failed. Every once in awhile I use Doan's Kidney Pills. In that way I keep my kidneys in proper working order and ward off any sign of kidney trouble. I am glad to confirm the statement I gave some years ago, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

New South Wales has established government camps at points of rare national scenery that its people may make holiday visits to those places at very low cost.
